FIRST MASS PRODUCTION ASSEMBLY LINE FOR BIG BOMBERS REVEALED

RHODES ISLAND HIT BY BRITISH

Ships, Planes Surprise Base For Italian Operations In Mediterranean

ABOARD A BRITISH WARSHIP IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, March 17—A sudden British air and naval attack on the island of Rhodes off the southwest coast of Turkey left fiery destruction and confusion in its wake today after catching the Italian defenders completely by surprise.

The swift assault, during which important objectives were pounded by shells, also considerably delayed in the millions, according to first estimates.

Apparently hardest hit were the rural areas around Greenwood and Grenada. Mrs. M. F. Pierce, executive secretary of the Red Cross at Greenwood, reported the death toll was at least 12 and possibly would rise higher.

These were the persons instantly killed, Mrs. Pierce said, and it was not known how many had died subsequently. In addition, some 200 persons were hospitalized at Greenwood.

In Grenada, Harry Burkley, chairman of the Red Cross, reported that the death toll in his vicinity was somewhere between 25 and 50 with about 200 persons injured. Greatest death toll occurred when the tornadic winds ripped at the Grenada plywood

SERVICE BOARD CALLS IN MANY 1-B AND 4-F MEN

Cases of between 75 and 100 Pickaway county men, classed as 1-B or 4-F because of defective eyes or teeth, were reopened by the draft board Tuesday and at least a portion of those men may receive orders to appear for blood tests within the next few days.

The men being reconsidered have been previously examined. Some of them have been given preliminary examinations by local physicians and others have been sent before the Army examining team and rejected because of defective eyes or teeth.

Men are eligible for reclassification following the blood tests may be placed in class 1-A by the local board and called into military service. The ruling affects only 1-B and 4-F men who have been placed in those classifications because of bad eyes or teeth.

FOR the first time in history big bombing planes are rolling off a mass production assembly line patterned on the speedy lines developed by the automobile industry. The half-mile-long assembly line, at the Consolidated Aircraft corporation plant in San Diego, Cal., is pictured above as the big B-24 bombers move slowly along, each worker adding one particular part. The monthly production of these big planes in this one plant now equals the entire industry's output a year ago.

Grenada, Miss., Area Hard Hit; Red Cross Asks Aid

WASHINGON, March 17—The first national wartime draft lottery since 1918 was all set to start at 6 p. m., today and run through most of the night in a solemn ceremony that will add another 9,000,000 men to America's reservoir of manpower for the armed forces.

In addition to the hospitals at Grenada, two emergency Red Cross stations were set up to care for the injured.

WOMEN'S ARMY CORPS MAY BE DECIDED TODAY

WASHINGTON, March 17—The House today began consideration of a bill to create a "women's army auxiliary corps" amid mounting indications that it will receive overwhelming approval.

The WAAAC, according to the bill's author, Rep. Rogers, (R) Mass., is being created with Army approval, to provide thousands of women for non-combatant Army duty, both within the United States and abroad, in order to free soldiers for combatant tasks.

FIVE LOSE LIVES AS FIRE LEVELS MICHIGAN HOME

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., March 17—Five members of one family—the mother and four sons—were burned to death today and four other members of the family were seriously burned and not expected to live when fire swept their residence.

Burned to death were Mrs. Vern Nichols; her four sons, George, 19; William, 12; John, five; and Edward, three.

Seriously burned and in a hospital were the father, Vern Nichols, and three daughters, Virginia, Barbara and Mary. Hospital attachés said they were not expected to live.

Another son, Robert, was not at home at the time of the fire.

Heavy Allied Attacks Slow Down Nippon's Strategy; Stimson Cites A.E.F.

BURMA SHOWDOWN NEAR

Vast Fleet Of Warships On Way To Southern Pacific War Theatre

By LEO V. DOLAN
INS War Editor

Heavy air attacks by Australian and American flyers have considerably slowed down Japanese planes to invade Australia, but there was evidence today that the enemy is resolved to make the attempt as soon as sufficient strength is organized.

A major battle likewise appeared imminent in Burma where Chinese troops have been pouring in to reinforce British imperial forces on a line being formed for the defense of India.

In Russia, the Red army reported new gains and the noose now looped around isolated units of the Nazi forces was being tightened with each passing hour.

The vast continent of Australia, almost exactly the same size as the United States, rapidly was becoming the arsenal of democracy and apparently the base which the United Nations are determined to hold as the place for launching of the eventual counter-offensive against Japan.

Just before midnight last night Secretary of War Stimson announced that an American expeditionary force of considerable size has disembarked in Australia. The war secretary said the A.E.F. comprised air and ground troops "in considerable numbers." Magnitude of this reinforcement could not be revealed since it would aid the enemy. But there was little doubt that the new A.E.F. was sufficiently strong to augment the Australian forces to a considerable extent.

Secretary Stimson's announcement seemed almost in the nature of what was almost a prayer by the Australian minister, Richard G. Casey. Minister Casey declared (Continued on Page Two)

RANGERS SCOUR COLORADO AREA FOR BROWN MEN

BOULDER CITY, Nev., March 17—Forest rangers were to leave in boats today for an isolated Colorado river canyon, three miles below Boulder Dam, in an attempt to solve the mystery of the "little brown men" who kept up a two-day gun battle with a soldier-scoutmaster and his group of Boy Scouts.

The rangers were heavily armed and carried equipment for mountain climbing to explore the cave from which mysterious, swarthy-skinned men opened fire on the scouting party.

The scoutmaster, William F. Colley, a first class private stationed at a nearby Army camp, told rangers who rescued him and four Boy Scouts yesterday afternoon that the strange cave dwellers opened fire late Saturday afternoon.

Colley returned the shots firing 24 of his 25 shells, and said that he hit one of the men. The wounded man fell to the rocks far below and then disappeared in the river, the scoutmaster said.

The number of missing could not be definitely established, as the ship's papers were in the possession of Capt. Andrew C. Lyons, and no trace of him has been found. However, it was believed that the Katie Lyons carried a crew of 21.

Other Staff Officers Go With Leader; Big A.E.F. Unit On Hand

WASHINGTON, March 17—In the most electrifying news of the war, the War department announced today that the redoubtable Gen. Douglas MacArthur has arrived in Australia from the Philippines to become supreme commander in that area for the forces of the United Nations.

He was accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and son, and by his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, Brig. Gen. Harold H. George of the air corps and several other staff officers.

Although he was ordered by President Roosevelt to transfer his headquarters from the Philippines on February 22, the War department said that the American general, at his own request, delayed the move until he could perfect arrangements for his successors on Bataan peninsula.

A.E.F. There Also

Announcement was made by the War department in a communiqué. It followed by less than twelve hours official disclosure of the landing of an American A.E.F. in Australia.

The War department declared that the A.E.F. that arrived there was a force of "considerable" size, composed both of air and ground units.

The movement of American troops to the land down under followed reports that the United

WASHINGTON, March 17—Sharing the perils of a soldier's life, Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and her four-year-old son arrived in Australia by plane today with the distinguished head of their family. While details of the flight from Bataan were not disclosed the War department announcement that Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his family have arrived in Australia indicated that Mrs. MacArthur and their young son have been under fire since the start of the war.

LONDON — Four Hungarian divisions recently revolted when informed that they were to be sent to the Russian front, the Exchange Telegraph, quoting the Moscow radio, said today. The dispatch said the German soldiers were reported to have fired on the Hungarians, and many casualties were sustained on both sides.

Kentucky, 13, Indiana, 4, but these were subject to revision on later information.

First reports last night were that 103 were dead in northern Mississippi and southwestern Tennessee, with at least 50 of the fatalities in Grenada, Miss.

The estimate of 50 dead in Grenada, came from Harry Burkley, chairman of the Red Cross there, but he revised his figures today to "somewhere between 25 and 50" and the total for Mississippi and Tennessee was put at an estimated 80-86 in Mississippi and 14 in Tennessee.

Three separate twisters struck Illinois, where 21 were reported killed and upwards of 170 injured. The first came at around noon another in mid-afternoon and the third late in the day.

It was not until an hour or so before midnight that the tardy tornado swept through parts of Indiana, leaving four dead and a score injured in its wake.

Thirteen persons were reported killed in and near Browder in the western part of Kentucky when the tornado struck at dusk last night.

Property damage over the widely separated stricken areas was estimated in the millions, with homes, business buildings, telephone and telegraph communications destroyed.

Leave, Then Return
The tornadoes in Illinois struck first about noon yesterday, subsided and then returned with greater fury in the late afternoon.

The deadly twisters continued into the night in the South after striking first at about 4:30 in the afternoon.

Two hit almost simultaneously near Greenwood, Miss., and Bolivar, Tenn., 150 miles apart, and then fanned out.

A report, at first unconfirmed, said several large gasoline storage tanks at Grenada burst during the storm, the gasoline flowing into the streets and creating a dangerous fire hazard.

The tornado smashed in the windows of the Western State hospital for the insane at Bolivar, Tenn., and 15 patients were injured by flying glass. The gale destroyed a laundry and temporary office building and tore the roof from the men's ward in which 100 dangerously insane were confined, causing $100,000 damage.

Superintendent W. D. Martin said none of the patients was killed.

Fifteen persons were killed at Greenwood, Miss. From one to a dozen fatalities were recorded in these other Mississippi communities where the death toll was expected to swell because of the number critically injured: Baldwyn, Water Valley, Berclair, Itta Bena, Tula and Spring Hill.

Seven were known dead at Selma, Tenn., and five in the rural area west of Lexington, Tenn.

Eight Die In Village
The Illinois tornado first raged through Champaign and Vermillion counties in mid-day, its most destructive force falling on the little town of Alvin, which was virtually wiped out. Eight persons were killed there and hardly a building was left undamaged. Forty persons were injured in Alvin which has a population of only 339.

Three members of one family, Mrs. Willard Lofton and her two daughters, about 5 and 3 years old, were killed on their farm near St. Joseph, Ill., 12 miles east of Urbana.

The mother's body was blown by the force of the gale into a tree 300 feet from the house. The father was found unconscious in the wreckage of his home, near the bodies of the little girls.

Seven persons were killed and more than 50 injured when another tornado struck Lacon, Ill., at 4:30 in the afternoon. Between 75 and 100 homes were leveled there.

A six-month-old girl was killed in the destruction of a farm home near the village of Collison, Ill. Savoy and Mayview, near Champaign, also reported a fatality each.

The black swirling funnel apparently first dipped earthward in the vicinity of Ivesdale, Champaign county, and moved across the county leveling buildings, trees and communication lines. A half dozen small villages were in its path before it hit Alvin.

LONDON — A Vichy radio broadcast picked up in London today said Japanese forces in the Philippines were reported to have launched a new offensive against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's position on Bataan peninsula.

LONDON—Confidence that the German naval concentration on the Norwegian coast has been broken up for the time being was expressed by British authorities today. They said this result had been achieved by the recent British attacks on the German battleship Tirpitz, newest and mightiest 35,000-ton German dreadnaught, and the 10,000-ton cruiser Prinz Eugen.

This dispatch was sent from an enemy country, whose motive in releasing news is likely to be propaganda. Axis claims should be credited only when confirmed by American or Allied sources.

SOMEWHERE ON THE GERMAN BORDER—The Frankfurter Zeitung boasted today that coming battles will push the Soviets to the Asiatic steppes and then "finish off England and the United States." It claimed the German "military promenade" will be more dynamic than it was last June because the Nazi army is stronger.

Affected by the lottery will be youths of 20 years of age and men from 36 to 44, inclusive, who registered after the draft act was changed last year. Approximately 9,000,000 in number, they are in addition to the 17,000,000 men from 21 to 35, inclusive, who registered under the first draft act.

Capsules being used in the lottery tonight are green in color, since today is St. Patrick's day.

BEAGLE CLUB'S EVENT SUCCESS; 100 IN GALLERY

Results of the Scioto Trail Beagle club's A. K. C. derby trial sponsored Sunday on the club's grounds near Tarlton were announced Tuesday by Raymond Welch, secretary of the club.

Dogs competed from Lancaster, Dayton, Greenfield, Columbus, Zanesville, Circleville, Xenia and Groveport, a total of 22 starters being listed.

Following are results:

13-inch class:

1. Red Tom, Ira Bartley, Groveport; 2. Hollywood Direct, Wally and Day Hogue, Columbus; 3. Reid's Ramilia, F. N. Reid, Columbus; 4. Red Ra Cricket, Ira Bartley, Groveport; Reserve, Hollywood Rusty, Wally and Day Hogue, Columbus.

15-inch class:

1. Reid's Rob Ray, F. N. Reid, Columbus; 2. Ragland Bill, C. C. Campbell, Zanesville; 3. Ragland Barney, C. C. Campbell, Zanesville; 4. Shady River Lad, W. Dale Adams, Dayton; reserve, Robert Bauer, Zanesville.

Most communication facilities were down and for this reason it was impossible to make a thorough check of the fatalities and damage caused. Reports filtering into Greenwood and Grenada indicated, however, that deaths occurred at Itta Bena, Berclair, Baldwin, Water Valley, Tula, Michigan City, Avalon, Belden and Oxford.

Although the witnesses could not give a true estimate of the casualties some idea of the extent of the destruction was possible from their description.

They told of houses being lifted into the air from their foundations and then being dropped as the winds subsided and swept on to new places.

Most Of Deaths Reported In Mississippi And Tennessee Area

Kentucky, 13, Indiana, 4, but these were subject to revision on later information.

First reports last night were that 103 were dead in northern Mississippi and southwestern Tennessee, with at least 50 of the fatalities in Grenada, Miss.

The estimate of 50 dead in Grenada, came from Harry Burkely, chairman of the Red Cross there, but he revised his figures today to "somewhere between 25 and 50" and the total for Mississippi and Tennessee was put at an estimated 80-66 in Mississippi and 14 in Tennessee.

Three separate twisters struck Illinois, where 21 were reported killed and upwards of 170 injured. The first came at around noon another in mid-afternoon and the third late in the day.

It was not until an hour or so before midnight that the tardy tornado swept through parts of Indiana, leaving four dead and a score injured in its wake.

Thirteen persons were reported killed in and near Broward in the western part of Kentucky when the tornado struck at dusk last night.

Property damage over the widely separated stricken areas was estimated in the millions, with homes, business buildings, telephone and telegraph communications destroyed.

ASSAULT NEAR

But there appeared indications from scattered sources that Japan is moving nevertheless for an eventual assault on Australia. In London there were reports that enemy planes are being rushed to Jap-occupied bases on New Britain and New Guinea islands which have been raided again and again recently by American and Australian planes.

Likewise, there were reports that a vast fleet of Japanese warships—cruisers, aircraft carriers and destroyers—is threading southward toward Australia. These reports were tenuous, however, and in Australia it was officially denied that the Japs have effected new landings on New Guinea or in the Papua area where Port Moresby is situated.

In Burma, the British and Chinese forces were rushing work on new defense lines in preparation for the expected Japanese attempt to sweep into the treasure-house of India.

Swirling snowstorms and sub-zero temperatures in Russia combined with the Red army again to sap the numbers and morale of bitterly-resisting German forces.

Moscow dispatches told of the Soviets again hurling back desperate Nazi counter-attacks and seizing the initiative with new advances in key sectors. In the Starsaya Russa sector the German 16th army in the center of an ever-tightening ring of steel lost an important point of resistance to the Russians in heavy fighting.

The British Army brought another headache to Mussolini—this time with a smashing attack on the island of Rhodes, off the southwest coast of Turkey.

Important military objectives on the Italian-garrisoned island were hit while in the harbor the big guns of the British warships inflicted considerable damage on naval installations.

LAKES SHIPPING SEASON NEARS; OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Carriers Hope To Shatter 86,000,000 Ore Tons Mark Of 1941

ICE IS BREAKING UP
First Week In April May See Activity In Full Swing In North

CLEVELAND, March 17—The busy industrial midwest, feverishly making guns and tools for the armed forces and war industry workers, today is geared for all-out production coincident with opening of the Great Lakes shipping season this week.

The shipping season, which opened the first week of April last year, is being extended in 1942 as carriers strive to better their record of 86,000,000 ore tons hauled to manufacturing centers last summer.

For the last few weeks ore and coal carriers have been refitted and repaired for an early start as lake ice softens and March winds crumble the floes. Fit-out crews are checking and testing the huge boilers whose steam will carry the loads of ore, coal, limestone, steel and scrap metal in greater amounts than ever before.

Slumbering steamers and freighters, hibernating in protected river and harbor waters, have been manned, and steamship lines have announced their personnel.

Big Cutter Ordered

Cooperating with the carriers in the extension of the season is the United States coast guard which maintains ice cutters at several stations on the lakes. The coast guard last month announced contract for an $8,000,000 cutter, largest and most powerful vessel afloat on the lakes. A beam of 70 feet and sturdy engines will enable the cutter to clear a path large enough for the biggest ore boats.

Lakes fleets have been augmented by new ships and will be enlarged by others in various stages of construction in shipyards.

Although not completed, 17 automobile carriers which transported new cars from Detroit to lake ports last season are being converted into ore and general capacity carriers.

Much lake news will be barred under existing censorship and weather information for navigators will be sparse.

First of the ships to break ice in the past were the auto haulers with the self-unloading coal and limestone carriers next.

Reports that Lake Michigan is practically free of ice and that floes are expected to break up in Lake Superior any day cheered shippers, for it coincided with reports that Lake Huron has had less winter ice than normal. In Lake Erie open water has been seen at Kelley's Island and Sandusky harbor ice was broken up by the motorship Mascot.

Cooperating with the steam-

BANKS TO PLAY ROLE IN FOOD PRODUCTION

COLUMBUS, March 17—A joint meeting of officials of the agricultural extension department of Ohio State university and the Ohio Bankers association, will be held in Columbus March 26 to plan for the highest possible farm production in connection with the Food for Freedom movement.

An educational program is being arranged by Dr. J. I. Falconer of the university, Elmer Kruse, chairman of Ohio AAA, and Paul M. Jones of the Old Phoenix National bank, Medina, who is chairman of the agricultural committee of the Ohio Bankers association and a member of the American Bankers association Food for Freedom committee.

A key banker has been appointed in each county by John E. Wise of Willard, president of the Ohio Bankers association. These bankers will help carry on the Food for Freedom program with all farmers and bankers in their respective territories. It is planned to have every bank located in an agricultural county participate in this program.

Two University Musical Organizations Sing Here

Two musical programs of unusual interest will be offered for Circleville high school pupils next Monday when the glee club of Muskingum college appears in the auditorium at 10 a.m. and the symphonic choir of Ohio State university sings a short program an hour later. Both organizations are enroute to present programs in other parts of Ohio, but are stopping here to entertain the Circleville pupils for a short time.

Both organizations are widely known, and their music is recognized as excellent.

The Ohio State choir, directed by Professor Louis H. Diercks, came into national prominence in the spring of 1938. It had already been delighting Ohio musical groups by its unusual performances.

In 1938 the Columbia Broadcasting System announced its "Choral Quest," a search for choirs of unusual merit. Ohio State's symphonic choir was invited to compete, along with 29 other choral societies of the United States.

The Ohio State broadcast of 30 minutes over the Columbia system was on April 1—but it was no "April Fool's Day" for the Buckeye singers.

After all of the choirs had been heard and recordings studied carefully by the judges, the Ohio State group was voted unanimously the best of all. The judges were all well known musical authorities—Deems Taylor, Frederick Schang and Davidson Taylor, all of Columbia Broadcasting System, and John Finley Williamson, director of the Westminster choir school.

The immediate award was a silver cup and a recognition broadcast. But the following year Columbia invited the symphonic choir on a trip through five states, with public concerts in the CBS theatre on Broadway; at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., and at the Westminster choir school, Princeton, N.J.

Another result was that the following year Ohio State's department of music was invited to give a series of five one-hour broadcasts over the coast-to-coast Columbia network.

An educational program is being arranged by Dr. J. I. Falconer of the university, Elmer Kruse, chairman of Ohio AAA, and Paul M. SAILOR LIVING DESPITE BULLET STILL IN HEART

HONOLULU, March 17—Over three months ago at Pearl Harbor, the Japs put a bullet into his heart—but today he is still alive to tell the tale.

In one of the most unusual medical cases on record, Dean Grant Darrow, 25, of Milwaukee, Wis., third class fire control man, U. S. Navy, was found to have a Japanese bullet embedded in the muscles of his heart.

Darrow was blown off his ship during the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7. Surgeons, finding a wound in his back, ascribed it to a bomb splinter, and it quickly healed.

He began to complain of dizziness in mid-February, when he was found to be suffering from a chronic appendix, which was removed. Darrow recovered quickly from the operation, but his dizziness grew worse.

Finally doctors examined him again, carefully x-rayed every section of his body. They found the bullet embedded in his heart muscles, wriggling with every heart beat, yet otherwise he is in perfect health.

Now the surgeons are undecided whether to risk the delicate operation for removal of the bullet, or to leave it where it is.

AIR PRESSURE CHECKED EVERY WEEK

LAKES SHIPPING SEASON NEARS; OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Carriers Hope To Shatter 86,000,000 Ore Tons Mark Of 1941

ICE IS BREAKING UP

First Week In April May See Activity In Full Swing In North

CLEVELAND, March 17—The busy industrial midwest, feverishly making guns and tools for the armed forces and war industry workers, today is geared for all-out production coincident with opening of the Great Lakes shipping season this week.

The shipping season, which opened the first week of April last year, is being extended in 1942 as carriers strive to better their record of 86,000,000 ore tons hauled to manufacturing centers last summer.

For the last few weeks ore and coal carriers have been refitted and repaired for an early start as lake ice softens and March winds crumble the floes. Fit-out crews are checking and testing the huge boilers whose steam will carry the loads of ore, coal, limestone, steel and scrap metal in greater amounts than ever before.

Slumbering steamers and freighters, hibernating in protected rivers and harbor waters, have been manned, and steamship lines have announced their personnel.

Big Cutter Ordered

Cooperating with the carriers in the extension of the season is the United States coast guard which maintains ice cutters at several stations on the lakes. The coast guard last month announced contract for an $8,000,000 cutter, largest and most powerful vessel afloat on the lakes. A beam of 70 feet and sturdy engines will enable the cutter to clear a path large enough for the biggest ore boats.

Lakes fleets have been augmented by new ships and will be enlarged by others in various stages of construction in shipyards.

Although not completed, 17 automobile carriers which transported new cars from Detroit to lake ports last season are being converted into ore and general packers.

Much lake news will be barred under existing censorship and weather information for navigators will be sparse.

First of the ships to break ice in the past were the auto haulers with the self-unloading coal and limestone carriers next.

Reports that Lake Michigan is practically free of ice and that floes are expected to break up in Lake Superior any day cheered shippers, for it coincided with reports that Lake Huron had less winter ice than normal. In Lake Erie open water has been seen at Kelley's Island and Sandusky harbor ice was broken up of the motorship Mascot.

ALASKAN HIGHWAY

THE highway from the northwestern corner of the United States up into Alaska is under way. American engineers and roadmaking machinery are pouring into British Columbia. They expect to have a passable highway ready for military use by the United States and Canada is less than two years. They are hurrying the big machinery in while there is snow and ice.

This will not be the picturesque, well-surfaced tourist road which the international commission has been designing. In fact, the commission believes the military plan wrong in some respects. The military highway, also, will cost more than the tourist highway previously discussed. But the haste of war is responsible for many decisions which might be made more pleasantly and economically in times of peace. The main thing now is to get a road through.

The route is from Dawson Creek, end of the present Canadian highway system, northwest through Fort St. John and Fort Nelson, B. C. to Watson Lake, B. C. Then it goes west to Whitehorse, in Yukon territory, then southwest to the delta of the Tanana River, about 75 miles southeast of Fairbanks.

It's a tough job. But Col. William M. Hoge, of the U. S. Army Engineers, expects to have the whole 1,500 miles of crushed rock highway, 24 feet in width, ready in record time. He will use existing Canadian highways wherever possible.

The plan is one to make the eyes light up, on both sides of the border.

SABOTAGE IN FRANCE

VICHY has broken its official silence about sabotage, and issues a report saying that from the end of July, 1941, to the middle of February, 1942, there have been 5,000 arrests of Frenchmen accused of sabotage and terrorism against German troops and German-controlled establishments. There have been 230 such attacks registered with police, and 12,773 police raids.

Among the attacks listed are bomb attacks on German headquarters, dynamiting of German army barracks, sabotage of a power plant, derailing of a German train.

The French, it appears, are conducting a guerrilla warfare of their own, and it increases in power and violence with every visit of the commandos, who, no doubt, leave with trusted Frenchmen some of the means of making trouble.

Undoubtedly this kind of thing goes on in all the occupied countries. Stories leak out from Norway and Czechoslovakia to the same effect. With the withdrawal of many of Hitler's troops to fill gaps in the forces now in Russia, Nazi victims are able more seriously to harass their conquerors.

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Out and about the village on a morning of Spring, finding it much to my liking. Buds about to burst on the trees, lilles coming up, grass turning green.

Thought about that Victory Garden I am supposed to have in my back yard this summer along with millions of others. Washington doesn't know it, but I have had countless Victory Gardens before, but the victory was always on the side of evil insects and the other things that never permitted production of anything more than a little scraggly lettuce, a few extremely hot and pithy radishes and an odd shaped tomato.

But this year it may be different. Bob Brehner has promised to write a series of articles for these prints on how and how not to garden, and Bob is an expert. Not only that, he has volunteered to consider any individual problems on gardening that may be presented to him in person or by phone. Will take a lot of time, but Bob feels that it will be a part of his bit in the war.

Met Dick Simkins and he is complaining about a toothache. "If these teeth were out and still jumped as hard and as fast as they do right now they would outrun any jackrabbit in the land," he declared. Heard talk that Davenport's pond may be leased to a group for a fishing club, and Bill Cady told me that the night before he had seen dozens of night crawlers in his yard. Bish! Given reports all streams high and ponds muddy, so there will be no fishing for a while yet. But Troy White called from his passing car that he caught seven nice suckers Sunday, and did hear of some others, but not direct.

Frank Palm stopped to chuckle at me. Sunday morning I found thousands of bees in the big soft maple working on the buds. Thought they acted hungry so took out a dish of honey which was ignored. Then did have a bright idea; they were about to swarm. So, across the street I went to Frank's and passed on the important news. "Not at all," he said. "Just hungry." About starved. I would say, for I saw dozens of dead ones in the street and on the sidewalk. And did learn this, and I'll never forget it: "A swarm in May is worth a ton of hay; a swarm in June is worth a silver spoon; a swarm in July is not worth a fly." The next time bees come around I'll just look at them in my superior knowledge and refuse to be fooled again.

In the evening did drop in at City Hall to watch the Ralston and Sohio Oil riflemen engage in a double match, chat with Mayor Ben, and to learn from the police that the evening was quiet. Took off then for the Legion club where was highly entertained by a mighty fine floor show featured in a St. Patrick's Day program. Home, then, at a late hour and straight away to bed, finding it mighty comforting after a long day.

Research Finding Out How the Vitamins Work

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SOMETHING like a really sensible explanation of the way the vitamins work is appearing. For a good many years since their discovery the only thing known about them was that, for instance, if Vitamin A was left out of the diet, it caused eye trouble such as night blindness and infection of the eye. If Vitamin B was left out of the diet it caused neuritis. If Vitamin C was left out of the diet, it caused scurvy and absence of Vitamin D resulted in rickets.

Research workers continued to find vitamins such as Vitamins E, K, and P, substances which they named pyridoxine, biotin, pantothenic acid and if one or the other was removed from the diet of an experimental animal certain effects in the way of ill health appeared in the animal.

Nobody knew just why these effects occurred. They didn't occur because the vitamins supplied an actual chemical to the tissues affected. For instance, Vitamin B, if removed from the diet, causes neuritis. Yet the chemical structure of Vitamin B is nothing like the chemical structure of a nerve.

Therefore it is not because the nerve lacks an essential chemical to produce growth that Vitamin B deficiency causes nerve trouble.

ALASKAN HIGHWAY

THE highway from the northwestern corner of the United States up into Alaska is under way. American engineers and roadmaking machinery are pouring into British Columbia. They expect to have a passable highway ready for military use by the United States and Canada in less than two years. They are hurrying the big machinery in while there is snow and ice.

This will not be the picturesque, well-surfaced tourist road which the international commission has been designing. In fact, the commission believes the military plan wrong in some respects. The military highway, also, will cost more than the tourist highway previously discussed. But the haste of war is responsible for many decisions which might be made more pleasantly and economically in times of peace. The main thing now is to get a road through.

The route is from Dawson Creek, end of the present Canadian highway system, northwest through Fort St. John and Fort Nelson, B. C. to Watson Lake, B. C. Then it goes west to Whitehorse, in Yukon territory, then southwest to the delta of the Tanana River, about 75 miles southeast of Fairbanks.

It's a tough job. But Col. William M. Hoge, of the U. S. Army Engineers, expects to have the whole 1,500 miles of crushed rock highway, 24 feet in width, ready in record time. He will use existing Canadian highways wherever possible.

The plan is one to make the eyes light up, on both sides of the border.

SABOTAGE IN FRANCE

VICHY has broken its official silence about sabotage, and issues a report saying that from the end of July, 1941, to the middle of February, 1942, there have been 5,000 arrests of Frenchmen accused of sabotage and terrorism against German troops and German-controlled establishments. There have been 230 such attacks registered with police, and 12,773 police raids.

Among the attacks listed are bomb attacks on German headquarters, dynamiting of German army barracks, sabotage of a power plant, derailing of a German train.

The French, it appears, are conducting a guerrilla warfare of their own, and it increases in power and violence with every visit of the commandos, who, no doubt, leave with trusted Frenchmen some of the means of making trouble.

Undoubtedly this kind of thing goes on in all the occupied countries. Stories leak out from Norway and Czechoslovakia to the same effect. With the withdrawal of many of Hitler's troops to fill gaps in the forces now in Russia, Nazi victims are able more seriously to harass their conquerors.

LEWIS SETTING STAGE

WASHINGTON—It looks as if John L. Lewis is getting ready to do another bolt act.

Significant under cover signs indicate that the miner czar is preparing the stage for a walk out of the CIO, which he took the leading role in founding six years ago.

The United Mine Workers, which Lewis rules with an iron fist, has not paid its CIO per capita tax for several months, and he has been summoning UMW leaders before him and "ultimatizing" them with a blunt demand that they declare themselves for him or Phil Murray, president of the CIO and vice president of the UMW.

Also last Thursday, in Lewis' office, there was a meeting of UMW executive board members that was steeped in mystery.

The inside story is that Lewis first sent out notices for a secret board meeting with the intention of having it vote approval (1) of the UMW quitting the CIO, and (2) declaring vacant Murray's office as UMW vice president and the West Virginia District presidency held by Van Bittner, a veteran UMW chief and close friend of Murray.

But word of the proposed meeting leaked to newsmen who began asking Lewis questions about it. Thereupon, according to insiders, he hastily dropped his original plan for a head-on showdown and resorted to strategy.

At his behest the board voted that a special committee of five be sent to West Virginia to investigate alleged operator violations of the UMW contract and "certain other matters." Insiders say the investigation is a smoke screen to mask the real purpose of the committee which is to axe Bittner and to torpedo a big State miners rally that Murray is scheduled to address.

ME OR ELSE

CIO insiders tell a sensational story of Lewis' tactics in pressuring UMW leaders into line.

It is related that he summoned Tom Kennedy, little, mild-mannered veteran UMW secretary-treasurer, and bluntly demanded, "Tom, you've got to choose between Phil Murray and me."

Stunned for a moment, Kennedy finally regained his breath and protested.

"That isn't fair, John," he said. "You ought not to do that to me. This isn't a question of personalities. It's a question of principles. After all you, Phil and I have worked hard together for the things we thought were right for many years."

Research Finding Out How the Vitamins Work

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SOMETHING like a really sensible explanation of the way the vitamins work is appearing. For a good many years since their discovery the only thing known about them was that, for instance, if Vitamin A was left out of the diet,

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

It caused eye trouble such as night blindness and infection of the eye. If Vitamin B was left out of the diet it caused neuritis. If Vitamin C was left out of the diet, it caused scurvy and an absence of Vitamin D resulted in rickets.

Researchers continued to find vitamins such as Vitamins E, K, and P, substances which they named pyridoxine, biotin, pantothenic acid and if one or the other was removed from the diet of an experimental animal, certain effects in the way of ill health appeared in the animal.

Nobody knew just why these effects occurred. They didn't occur because the vitamins supplied an actual chemical to the tissues affected. For instance, Vitamin B, if removed from the diet, causes neuritis. Not the chemical structure of Vitamin B is nothing like the chemical structure of a nerve. Therefore it is not because the nerve lacks an essential chemical to produce growth that Vitamin B deficiency causes nerve trouble.

We are beginning to find out that the vitamins probably act as catalysts. A catalyst affects a chemical reaction in a definite way but it doesn't enter into the reaction. For instance, potassium placed in a test tube with oxygen and hydrogen will accelerate the combination of the oxygen and hydrogen but the potassium will not be changed itself.

Vitamin B acts in this way. It apparently speeds up all the exchanges of food in the body, allows the body to burn it more quickly, in fact speeds up all the life processes.

It has been found that climate and temperature affect the use of Vitamin B. In cool climates Vitamin B remains in the body longer and keeps heat generation going. In tropical climates it is eliminated rapidly and the food remains inert in the body and it turns into fat rather than energy so that in hot climates the natives are more likely to be sleepy and more likely to be obese.

Incidentally, I am glad to see that a good word is being said for

LUNCH

1 large glass milk (160 calories); 1 large banana—no cream or sugar (100 calories, minerals and vitamins).

DINNER

1 cup black bean soup—serve with chopped onion and chopped white and yolk of egg (150 calories—satisfies the appetite); 1 medium size broiled sweetbread (150 calories); 2 tablespoons carrots (Vitamins A, B, C, G—phosphorus—calcium—25 calories); 1 canned peach—served hot (50 calories); 1 small cup coffee—no cream or sugar.

MEAL OLD FRIEND

For years every hygienist condemned meat. Nowadays they say that meat is the best source we have for Vitamin B and we all need some at least once or twice a week.

Vitamin B is not a single substance. There are about eleven subdivisions of Vitamin B, all more or less related, but all performing more or less different functions.

Incidentally, it is possible to get too much Vitamin B; at least it is possible to get too much thiamin chloride, which is Vitamin B₁, so it won't do simply to stuff yourself on Vitamin B.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. M.—"Will X-ray show if a person has cancer? Also what would cause the end of the spine to be sore?"

Answer: X-ray will reveal cancer of the bone. The cause of the soreness in the end of the spine probably is due to a dislocation of the coccyx. That is the commonest cause of soreness of that spot.

ANETTE had been in New York almost a month when Ralph Hay walked into Laurence Peyton's dressing room and slapped a New York paper before the actor's face.

"What goes on?" he wanted to know, pointing to Anette's photograph. "Are you two separated, or just giving your all for your art?"

"Just giving our all," Larry replied grumpily. "And I don't mind telling you, it's darned unsatisfactory. Sometimes I wish I'd been the typical jealous, selfish husband and kept her here—fix yourself a drink, if you want one, and sit down." Already made up, Larry was putting on his first-act clothes. "Incidentally, it is supposed to be a secret that she's out of town."

"A secret?" Hay's face turned into a series of amazed creases. He poured a stout drink of whisky into a tumbler and added water from the faucet. "Will you kindly explain, Larry?" he asked. "I'm still more."

"Never mind that," Larry took his reporter friend by the arm and led him to the dressing room. "And, for Pete's sake, a little less of that 'brat' and 'child-bride' stuff. Give me a break."

Quaint Styles Prevail At Session Of Monday Club

80 Members, Guests At Outstanding Event

Quaint styles of long ago were in evidence Monday at the annual social session of the Monday club when 80 members and guests gathered in the social room of the Presbyterian church for a dessert. Since "Hand-Wrought Ancestors" had been the study theme of a very interesting year program, gowns and furbelows of these ancestors were taken from their wrappings for this evening of particular fun.

The soft light of many candles made the room attractive for the affair, a dessert course being served early in the evening. The tea table was centered with an old fashioned arrangement of mixed flowers guarded with four nose-gays. Tall yellow candles burned in five-branch silver holders and beautiful antique silver coffee and tea services were at either end of the table. Mrs. Charles E. Groce and Miss Nell Weldon presided at the tea table.

After refreshments were served, the nosegays were presented. Mrs. Groce and Miss Weldon, and the other two charter members present, Mrs. Howard Jones and Mrs. Franklin Dundore (Nannie Marfield) of Paoli, Pa.

Mrs. Tom Renick, president of the Monday club, read a brief sketch of "The Struthers Family" before incidents of the last 100 years were presented through the old family album and the informal discussion of the pictures by Miss Sadie Brunner as Aunt Lou Struthers and Mrs. Ted Huston as Cousin Edith Struthers Morten, representing two generations.

The old melodies heard throughout the program were played by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke who also served as accompanist for the many vocal solos.

The first tableau revealed Mrs. W. T. Ulm as Grandmother Lucretia Struthers and was shown after the solo, "Long, Long Ago," by Mrs. James P. Moffitt; Grandfather Abijah, Mrs. J. I. Smith Jr., with solo, "When You and I Were Young Maggie," by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh; Mrs. G. P. Hunzicker was seen as Susan; Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader, as Mary Sophronia Struthers; Mrs. Barton Deming, as Uncle Joe; Mrs. Robert Adkins, Mrs. Melvin Kiger, Mrs. Frank Morrison and Ann McMordie, as the family of the grandparents; vocal solo, "School Days"; Mrs. Moffitt; Mrs. Tom Brown, as Aunt Mary; vocal solo, "Believe me if All Those Endearing Young Charms", Miss Eleanor Snyder; Mrs. G. D. Phillips and Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson, as the parents shown in their wedding picture; solo, "Lullaby", by Brahmis; Miss Snyder; Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey, as the grandmother in her younger days; Mrs. Sterling Lamb, as Cousin Sylvester Struthers, the family poet; Mrs. Robert Musser, as Mrs. Sophia Struthers Smathers, the opera singer of the family; solo, "A Bicycle Built for Two", Miss Snyder; Miss Louise Mason, as Judge Nathan Struthers, shown on his new bicycle; Mrs. Lemuel Weldon, as Annabelle Struthers, a Gibson girl; Ann McMordie and Margaret Weldon, two of the Struthers children and Mrs. Deming, as John Struthers, the first in the family to own and drive an automobile.

The explanatory comments of Miss Brunner as Aunt Lou and replies of Mrs. Huston, her young relative, kept the audience in gales of laughter as the spotlight shone on the authentic make up and costuming of the various Struthers' ancestors.

The lines of the sketch were written by Mrs. Ray W. Davis and Mrs. A. Huise Hays.

Mrs. John W. Eshelman was chairman of the committee in charge of the social session, the members of the group including Mrs. J. I. Smith Jr., Miss Emily D. Yates, Mrs. Huston, Mrs. Charles Naumann, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. Walter Kindler and Miss Snyder.

Quaint Styles Prevail At Session Of Monday Club

80 Members, Guests
At Outstanding Event

Quaint styles of long ago were in evidence Monday at the annual social session of the Monday club when 80 members and guests gathered in the social room of the Presbyterian church for a dessertea. Since "Hand-Wrought Ancestors" had been the study theme of a very interesting year program, gowns and furbelows of these ancestors were taken from their wrappings for this evening of particularly delightful fun.

The soft light of many candles made the room attractive for the affair, a dessert course being served early in the evening. The tea table was centered with an old fashioned arrangement of mixed flowers guarded with four nose-gays. Tall yellow candles burned in five-branch silver holders and beautiful antique silver coffee and tea services were at either end of the table. Mrs. Charles E. Groce and Miss Nell Weldon presided at the tea table.

After refreshments were served, the nosegays were presented Mrs. Groce and Miss Weldon, and the other two charter members present. Mrs. Howard Jones and Mrs. Franklin Dundore (Nannie Marion) of Paoli, Pa.

Mrs. Tom Renick, president of the Monday club, read a brief sketch of "The Struthers Family" before incidents of the last 100 years were presented through the old family album and the informal discussion of the pictures by Miss Sadie Brunner as Aunt Lou Struthers and Mrs. Ted Huston as Cousin Edith Struthers Morton, representing two generations.

The old melodies heard throughout the program were played by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke who also served as accompanist for the many vocal solos.

The first tableau revealed Mrs. W. T. Ulm as Grandmother Lucretia Struthers and was shown after the solo, "Long, Long Ago," by Mrs. James P. Moffitt; Grandfather Abijah, Mrs. J. I. Smith Jr., with solo, "When You and I Were Young Maggie," by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh; Mrs. G. P. Humicker was seen as Susan; Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader, as Mary Sophronia Struthers; Mrs. Barton Deming, as Uncle Joe; Mrs. Robert Adkins, Mrs. Melvin Kiger, Mrs. Frank Morrison and Ann McDermid, as the family of the grandparents; vocal solo, "School Days"; Mrs. Moffitt; Mrs. Tom Brown, as Aunt Mary; vocal solo, "Believe me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," Miss Eleanor Snyder; Mrs. G. D. Phillips and Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson, as the parents, shown in their wedding picture; solo, "Lullaby," by Brahms, Miss Snyder; Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey, as the grandmother in her younger days; Mrs. Sterling Lamb, as Cousin Sylvester Struthers, the family poet; Mrs. Robert Musser, as Mrs. Sophia Struthers Smathers, the opera singer of the family; solo, "A Bicycle Built for Two," Miss Snyder; Miss Louise Mason, as Judge Nathan Struthers, shown on his new bicycle; Mrs. Lemuel Weldon, as Annabelle Struthers, a Gibson girl; Ann McDermid and Margaret Weldon, two of the Struthers children and Mrs. Deming, as John Struthers, the first in the family to own and drive an automobile.

The explanatory comments of Miss Brunner as Aunt Lou and replies of Mrs. Huston, her young relative, kept the audience in gales of laughter as the spotlight shown on the authentic makeup and costuming of the various Struthers' ancestors.

The lines of the sketch were written by Mrs. Ray W. Davis and Mrs. A. Hulse Hays.

Mrs. John W. Eshelman was chairman of the committee in charge of the social session, the members of the group including Mrs. J. I. Smith Jr., Miss Emily D. Yates, Mrs. Huston, Mrs. Charles Naumann, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. Walter Kindler and Miss Snyder.

Bids Received for More Parking Meters in City

Council Is Expected To Consider Devices For East Main Street

Plans for additional parking meters advanced another step Monday afternoon when the city board of control opened bids on an additional one to one hundred meters.

Only one bid was submitted, that of the Dual Parking Meter Company of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, the same company which has just installed 100 meters in downtown Circleville.

The new meter bid does not stipulate the number of meters to be secured, nor does it say where those meters shall be placed. Those questions are expected to be considered by council at its meeting Wednesday night.

The action to secure the additional meters follows legislation of several weeks ago, when councilmen authorized Service Director Clarence Helvering to advertise for bids for additional meters, since it was generally felt by members of council that more meters were needed for a complete parking program.

When council drew up the original meter ordinance it provided for installation of meters on Main and Court streets and on the north side of East Franklin street to the first alley east of Court street. At present meters are located on Court street from Watt to Franklin and on Main street from Scioto to Court. There are no meters on East Main street and none on East Franklin.

If council approves the meter expansion program it may establish the number of additional meters which may be secured for a six month trial period, after which they may be purchased if desired.

Police officials attempted to make their second collection from the meters Monday, but rain prevented them from completing the job. Police Chief William McCrady said that some of the meters he checked were running over and he predicted that there would be considerably more revenue than there was from the first collection. One of the reasons for the increase, he said, was that the meters had been in operation two days longer than they had when the first collection was made. The collection probably will be completed Tuesday.

Total revenue taken from the meters last Tuesday was $85.07.

BLITZ MEN
Vox Pop's tour of the nation at war takes Parks Johnson and Wally Butterworth to Fort Knox, Ky., home of the U. S. Army Armored Force, to interview soldiers training to defeat the enemy in blitz warfare. The broadcast will be heard on Monday, March 23, at 8 p. m.

Near Louisville, Fort Knox is a replacement center where officers and enlisted men receive basic or initial training in how to operate, fight and repair tanks, other vehicles and armament of the Force.

BASEBALL BROADCASTS

Announcement was made today by Hubert Taft, Jr., general manager of WKRC, Cincinnati, that the Cincinnati Reds pre-season schedule of exhibition baseball games will be aired on that station, beginning Monday, March 23.

Play-by-play descriptions will be broadcast by Waite Hoyt, former Yankee pitching star, who is under contract to WKRC as sports announcer, and who will return to Cincinnati next week from a three weeks' stay with the Reds at their spring training quarters in Tampa, Florida.

Hoyt will be assisted in the broadcast of the games by Dick Nesbit.

Note: Hand-picked Lewis organizers made a strenuous effort to split up the powerful UMW Local 12165 in New York into a number of smaller separate units, but were overwhelmingly defeated. It was flatly charged that the purpose of the maneuver was to give Lewis more votes at the UMW convention to enable him to put over the ouster of Murray and the walk-out from the CIO. Shortly after Lewis' setback, Sam Machlin, leader of the Local for a number of years and chiefly responsible for its growth into one of the strongest in the country, was fired by Kathryn Lewis, daughter and right-hand lieutenant of John L. When the Local still refused to submit to Lewis' demands, he followed up Machlin's dismissal by revoking the Local's charter, which enabled him to seize its records and funds and put his own henchmen in control.

CLASH WITH MURRAY

The reported crackdown on Kennedy set CIO circles buzzing, but it didn't hold a candle to a personal Lewis-Murray encounter that followed.

This meeting took place unexpectedly when the two men ran into each other in a Washington hotel lobby. According to eyewitnesses, Lewis immediately stalked up to Murray and rasped out, "Phil Murray, you owe me an apology."

"If anyone has any apologizing to do, John," Murray replied quietly, "it's you."

Glaring, Lewis pushed his face close to Murray's and for a moment onlookers say they feared there would be blows. But Murray calmly returned Lewis' angry look and then again quietly said, "If ever there was a man who should be ashamed of what he has done, it is you, John."

With that Murray turned on his heel and walked away.

BOUNCER HENDERSON

Next to Secretary Harold Ickes, Price Controller Leon Henderson is probably the toughest talker in the Administration. When he thinks the situation demands it, he slings a mean line.

Trustees of the SCREC, including C. M. Ochs, near Lancaster; Charles Helser, Thorntown; John Akin, Canal Winchester, and Kindler, conferred Saturday night on the question of the union's contract, but decided that while the cooperative was not opposed to the union, it did not favor adopting its contract clauses which called for a closed shop and a 25 cent general wage increase.

The South Central Rural Electric Cooperative serves 3,116 customers in nine counties including Fairfield, Pickaway, Perry, Ross, Hocking, Muskingum, Franklin, Madison and Fayette.

Kindler said that service would be resumed as quickly as possible and Petty reported that a conciliator from the department of labor would be in Lancaster Wednesday to continue negotiations.

TWO PROPERTIES SOLD BY SHERIFF AT COURTHOUSE

Two properties, one in Circleville and one in Scioto township, were sold at a sheriff's sale held Monday afternoon at the court house.

The 26-acre L. C. Messmore farm in Scioto township was purchased by James Bogard of Mt. Sterling route 3 for $68 an acre.

Mrs. Hulda Clifton of Circleville purchased the George Anderson house and lot at 218 West Union street for $1,480.

KNIFE CORRECTS CHILD'S UPSIDE DOWN STOMACH

NEW YORK, March 17 — His upside down stomach corrected by delicate surgery, two-year-old Joseph Lucchese played with his Easter bunny and his blocks today.

Joseph's father, Benjamin, revealed the unusual operation had been performed at Flower hospital but the surgeon's name was not made public. Joseph's stomach had been inverted since birth.

"We can't get him to go to bed," the father asserted. "He's anxious to play all the time—with his Easter rabbit or with anything else that he can get his hands on. He can eat almost anything now."

The operation on Joseph recalls the case of Alyce Jane McHenry of Omaha who underwent a similar operation at Fall River, Mass., in 1936. Her smiling courage before the operation and during the long days of convalescence, won her the admiration of millions.

SWEPSTON MUST SERVE THREE YEARS IN JAIL

Earl Swepton, of Columbus, former United States auctioneer and widely known in Pickaway county where he conducted a number of sales, was sentenced Monday by Judge Mell G. Underwood to serve three years in a federal prison.

Swepton pleaded guilty several weeks ago of embezzeling $4,759 from the bankrupt estate of the R. A. Miller Lumber company at Middleport, O.

He was dismissed from his federal position last July.

REMODELED BUILDING TO BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION

Many persons are expected to visit the remodeled school building of St. Joseph's Catholic church Tuesday evening during a public inspection planned by members of the church's several societies.

A sum of $10,000 is being spent to make the building recreation center, and much of the remodeling has been completed. Furnishings have not been obtained as yet.

There will be no program of any kind, and no admission will be charged, the public being invited to go through the building to see what has been done in the way of remodeling.

Teeth, Eye Rule Changes To Increase Manpower

Recent changes in the teeth and eye requirements of induction into the Army will substantially increase the manpower contribution of the state of Ohio to the nation's fighting forces, it was announced Tuesday by Col. C. W. Goble, state director of selective service.

"Many selective service registrants who were deferred under the old Army standards will be able to qualify for full or limited military service under the new ones," the director declared. "Of registrants rejected because of physical conditions, approximately 20 percent were disqualified by former physical tests because of the then stipulated dental requirements and about 14 percent were unable to qualify because of eye defects. Many of these men now can be inducted for full or limited military service."

Formerly, Director Goble pointed out, the Army required that an inductee have a minimum of six masticating and six incisor teeth, 3 masticating opposing 3 incisors and 3 incisors opposing 3 incisors.

The new dental requirement is merely ability to eat and digest Army "chow," it states:

"For general military service in all branches: Registrants who have no disqualifying physical defects except a lack of the required number of teeth as set forth in paragraph 31a, Mobilization Regulations 1-9, August 31, 1940, when, in the opinion of the examining physician, they are well nourished of good musculature, are free of gross dental infections, and have sufficient teeth (natural or artificial), to subsist on the Army ration."

In a memorandum announcing these new Army standards, national headquarters, selective service system, stated: "It is, therefore, directed that all local boards reopen and consider anew the classification of all registrants heretofore classified in Class I-B or Class IV-F by reason of deficiencies in teeth or eyesight."

He discussed the institution's problems, declaring that about 3,000 patients were housed there with 2,000 more on the waiting list, not able to obtain treatment because of inadequate housing facilities.

During his address he spoke of several of the institution's problems, and touched on the much-debated sterilization question.

Dr. Critchfield substituted for Dr. C. C. Kirk, superintendent of the Orient farm, who was unable to attend because of illness.

"Never mind who I am," was the answer, "I want to see Henderson."

"What about?"

"That's my business."

Henderson, grabbing the stranger by the collar and the seat of the pants and propelling him forcibly toward the door, "but no one comes into my office without first stating his business. Hereafter you wait until you are invited before you come in here."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Labor insiders say that a secret tie-up between Dubinsky, ambitious little boss of the International Ladies Garment Workers, and John L. Lewis was behind the attack on Sidney Hillman on the charge that Hillman's union, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, had a monopoly on Army uniform contracts. Shortly before the attack, the attorney of the ILGWU was hired by Lewis as the lawyer of one of his unions. . . . For the first time since the war began, Axis output of vital combat supplies fell behind that of the U. S. and British Empire in January and February.

RECRUITING OFFICER TO APPEAR IN CIRCLEVILLE

A Navy recruiting officer will be in Circleville Thursday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. to interview men interested in enlistment in the Navy or the Naval Reserve. He will be at the postoffice.

Age limitations are 17 to 31 for the Navy and 17 to 50 for the Naval Reserve.

High school students may be enlisted in class V-1, Naval Reserve, now and be deferred until completion of the school year.

Full information may be obtained from the recruiter.

RURAL ELECTRIC WORKERS STRIKE AFTER LAYOFFS

Protesting layoffs which were made while negotiations were underway with the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, twelve employees of the South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, which serves Pickaway county, staged a walkout from their jobs Monday.

Darwin Kindler, manager of the cooperative, said the men were employed as tree trimmers, linemen and construction men and had not notified him until Monday morning that they intended to strike.

Homer Petty, secretary of the Electrical workers union, said the men walked out because Kindler "verbally laid off four workers three weeks ago." He said the union had been negotiating with the cooperative since January 16, and that since the negotiations were not completed, the walkout was made in protest against layoffs while negotiations were in progress.

Trustees of the SCREC, including C. M. Ochs, near Lancaster; Charles Helser, Thornville; John Akun, Canal Winchester, and Kindler, conferred Saturday night on the question of the union's contract, but decided that while the cooperative was not opposed to the union, it did not favor adopting its contract clauses which called for a closed shop and a 25 percent general wage increase.

The man came into Henderson's outer office and asked to see him. Told that Henderson was busy with a staff conference, the stranger announced he would wait. A secretary then inquired what he wanted to see Henderson about. The visitor refused to say and plumped himself into a chair, where he waited for over an hour.

Then, as the staff meeting broke up and before anyone could stop him, he rushed into Henderson's office.
